Rare This is the steak for the true carnivore, but gets it cooked (as little as possible) to be polite.

Med Rare This is the recommended level of doneness for a good steak. Ask any chef how they like their steak prepared and they will, say medium rare.

Medium This steak should have a thick band of light pink through the middle

Med Well This is the steak for the squeamish who don't want color in their meat. If you can sneak this one in for someone ordering well done you will be doing both of you a favour.

Well Done No pink little juice. We do NOT recommend well done steaks.
